

S & W

- S&W thank you for the pr-ers for the retreat for the three teams that evacuated this past winter/spring. We had a productive time celebrating 25+ years of ministry, crying over all of the various forms of loss and looked forward to what the L has for us all in the coming months and years.
- Please pr-y for the continued ministry of the maternity home in Eastern Europe. They are in the process of moving to a larger location and currently have a few residents.
- Please pr-y for guidance for S&W as they consider two different countries to redeploy to.

Praise:

- Our weekend with all of our children and grandchildren in June was very good, peaceful, and times of making memories
- The launch of a new team at a new location in our area has taken place and the people in that city will now have access to the Truth

Pray:

- our Sister *Felicia needs to have her work contract renewed in order to remain in our city. Please pray that our Father provides work for her
- *John, *Daniel, *Avery, *Darlene, *Sara, and *Corrie continue doing Book studies. Pray the veil is removed from their hearts.
- we continue doing our "tour" of speaking to a number of churches in our district as well as Ohio and California. We are admittedly tired- yet excited to share what our Father has been doing in the Middle East. Please pray for energy and clarity of thought
- our team has launched some of our teammates to a new location a couple hours from our city to start a new work there. Please pray for acceptance by the neighborhood of this family and that our Father will establish their work.
- please continue to pray for our daughter Mandy and daughter-in-law Hannah who are both expecting babies in early fall.

C & S

We recently attended a conference in Thailand that was geared towards technology and scripture translation, scripture engagement, and discipleship making. For C it was a very encouraging conference to see some ways in which he can engage the country where we serve, and also ways to encourage our colleagues around the world to utilize new avenues of engaging technology to reach the lost, lonely and hurting. Pray for C as he explores implementing some of these new ideas.

While C was learning about new technology tools, S attended a workshop called "Strengthening Christian Families." The goal of the workshop was to train trainers in a curriculum that could be used with young families in our local communities. Many families in our context have never known a Christian family, and those who are new to the big city are often overwhelmed by the challenges cities present compared to what families were used to in their home villages. Pray that S would have opportunities to implement the training she received as well.
